ORDNANCE SURVEY (SCOTLAND).

RETURN to an Address of the Honourable The House of Commons, dated 10 April 1843;—for,

A RETURN of the Year in which the ORDNANCE SURVEY of Scotland was commenced; the Number of OFFICERS and of all other Parties at present employed, or to be employed, in the Survey during the current Year; the INSTRUCTIONS from the BOARD of ORDNANCE to the Officers conducting the Survey, in reference to the Scale on which it is to be laid down, and the precise Description of Survey determined upon as regards the Delineation of Fields, Fences, Roads, and the like:—also, a STATEMENT of the exact State and Progress made in the Survey up to this Date; and whether any and what Portion of the Topographical Part of it has been executed or laid down to a Scale; and, as nearly as possible, the Time when the whole may be expected to be completed.

Sir, Office of Ordnance, 1 May 1843.

I HAVE the honour, by command of the Master-general and Board of Ordnance, to acknowledge the receipt of your Letter, bearing date the 12th ultimo, and addressed to the Master-general, by which you request that, in accordance with Her Majesty's pleasure, a Return may be transmitted to you as soon as possible, in order to be laid before The House of Commons, of various particulars relative to the Ordnance Survey of Scotland; and, in obedience to that requisition, I am instructed herewith to forward to you the copy of a Letter from the Assistant Secretary to the Treasury, of the 21st March last, which expresses the sum, 50,000*l.*, which their Lordships have allowed for annual expenditure in carrying on the Surveys of England, Scotland and Ireland; also, of a Memorandum, drawn up by Colonel Colby, of the Royal Engineers, the officer superintending those Surveys, showing the period when the Survey of Scotland was first commenced, its progress from that time to the present period, the nature and scale on which it is to be laid down, and the probable period of its completion.

I have, &c.,

The Right honourable
Sir Jas. R. Graham, Bart.,
&c. &c. &c.

(signed) R. Byham.

Sir, Treasury Chambers, 21 March 1843.

HAVING laid before the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury your Letter of the 10th instant, requesting to be informed what sum will be allowed for annual expenditure on account of the Surveys of Great Britain and Ireland, I am commanded by their Lordships to acquaint you, for the information of the Master-general and Board of Ordnance, that My Lords see no objection to allowing Fifty Thousand Pounds annually for the carrying on of the Survey in England, Scotland and Ireland, including the Geological Survey. £.50,000.

I am, &c.

(signed) C. E. Trevelyan.

The Secretary to the Ordnance.

MEMORANDA relating to the successive Progress of the SURVEY in Scotland and the Scottish Islands.

1. In 1809 the principal triangulation commenced in Scotland, but was discontinued during the years 1810, 11, 12, to enable the persons who had been employed there to carry forward the subordinate triangulation required for constructing the detail maps in South Britain. In 1813 the Ordnance zenith sector was used on the stations of Kellie Law, in Fifeshire, and Cowhythe Hill, in Banffshire: these observations were published in 1842. In the years 1814, 15 and 16, the principal triangulation proceeded steadily in Scotland. In 1817 the Ordnance zenith sector was used on Batta Island, in Zetland (Observations published in 1842): a new base line was measured on Bethelvie Links, near Aberdeen, and the principal triangulation proceeded during this year and the years 1818, 19, in Scotland. In the year 1820 the principal triangulation was suspended, but re-commenced in the Zetland, Orkney and Western Islands of Scotland in 1821, and was also carried on in those districts during 1822. In 1823, the use of the large theodolite being requisite to proceed with the principal triangulation in South Britain, the Scottish triangulation was unavoidably deferred, and the subsequent urgent demand for the completion of a Survey of Ireland, prevented the resumption of the principal triangulation of Scotland until 1838. In the years 1838, 39, 40 and 41, the principal triangulation for connecting the Islands with each other, and with the main land of Scotland, proceeded steadily: many new objects were erected, and the old stationary objects which had formerly been observed were mostly identified and repaired: though these objects had only recently come under the protection of the Act 4 & 5 Victoria, cap. 30, the general knowledge of the utility of a correct survey in Scotland had induced the inhabitants to prevent their destruction. The principal triangulation in Scotland is now so far advanced, that the secondary triangulation, detail survey and engraving, might be put in course of progress as soon as sufficient funds to carry them forward could be devoted to these objects; but any premature effort to commence the secondary triangulation and detail survey in Scotland before funds could be granted sufficient to carry them forward with vigour, would only end in extra expense and ultimate disappointment.

2. In 1815 the Ordnance Department appointed the late eminent geologist Dr. M'Culloch to make a geological examination of Scotland, partly as the commencement of a geological Survey, and partly to aid in the selection of a fit mountain to repeat an experiment for ascertaining the density of the earth. Dr. Maskelyne's experiment upon the mountain called Schehallian having excited a desire for further information among the scientific men of Europe, Dr M'Culloch's researches were continued in the years 1816, 17, 18, 19, 20 and 21, but were not completed to form an Ordnance geological Survey of Scotland. The greater part, if not the whole, of this geological information is, however, before the public in Dr. M'Culloch's various works, or papers in Transactions, &c.

3. In 1819 a military detail Survey of part of the counties of Wigton and Ayrshire was commenced upon a scale of two inches to a mile by Captain Hobbs, and three subalterns of the Royal Engineers; this survey continued with diminishing numbers through the years 1820, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7, and it extended altogether over a space of about 937 square miles. But a Survey carried on at so slow a rate, and on so small a scale, afforded no proper ground for commencing a map of Scotland; and these plans on so small a scale will furnish no aid whatever in carrying forward the proposed Survey for general purposes, with the degree of accuracy suited to the present wants of the country.

4. In 1834 the Admiralty applied to the Ordnance for secondary points, to enable them to lay down their coast Surveys of Cumberland and the Isle of Man; and in 1835, 6, 7, 8 and 9, the Ordnance carried forward a partial secondary triangulation along the Scottish coast, from the Solway Firth to the Firth of Clyde, for the use of the Hydrographical department of the Admiralty. In 1841 this secondary triangulation was resumed by the Ordnance with two instruments in the district of Cowal, and one instrument will be sent to the coast of Scotland this this year also, in charge of a non-commissioned officer of Royal Sappers and Miners, and a party of labourers, to provide for the wants of the Admiralty surveyors.

5. The Honourable Board have, by their Order of the 23d October 1840 ($\frac{T}{359}$) in conformity with the views of the Treasury, directed that the Survey of Scotland shall be laid down on a scale of six inches to a mile, similarly to the Survey of Ireland. That Survey distinguishes the sub-divisions of land, and all particulars which the adoption of the scale admits. The time required for the completion and publication of the Survey of Scotland will be guided by the amount which can be annually granted for that service. If those amounts are small in comparison with the magnitude of the undertaking, the progress will be slow, unsatisfactory and costly, from the extra quantity of superintendence which spreading the work over a larger number of years would involve; and if the amounts of the Votes be regulated according to the Honourable Board's Order of the 22d March 1843 ($\frac{T}{109}$), the Survey of Scotland cannot be expected to be completed in less than 20 years.

PAPER (E.)—BALANCE SHEET, showing the LEDGER BALANCES on the 31st March 1843, the Date on which the preceding Account of RECEIPT and EXPENDITURE was closed;—also, the Proportion of the AVAILABLE BALANCE remaining on that Day, applicable to the still open Account of 1842–43, leaving the UNAPPROPRIATED BALANCE of £.261,324. 14. 11. on the Grants for 1841–2 and prior Years.

N. B.—To obviate the necessity of introducing into the following Statement the separate results of all the Accounts, the Balances on the Ledger are shown in Classes, except in those instances in which it has been deemed advisable to add special explanations, with the view of illustrating the principle upon which the Account has been prepared, and the final Balance struck. The Account of Receipt and Expenditure is one for the Year, and has been kept open for twelve months after the expiration of the Year to which it refers, that all Payments within that period, relating to the service of the past Year, might be included in it, and the whole Expenditure on Imprests be finally audited before declaring the unappropriated Balance; the Receipts and Payments comprised in that Account being therefore spread over a period of two complete years, the proof of the correctness of the unappropriated Surplus may be shown, either by the Balances which remained on the Books at the date to which the Account of Receipt and Expenditure extends (viz. 31st March 1842), or by those which remained at the date when it was definitively closed (viz. 31st March 1843). The Balance Sheet of the latter date is given, as it exhibits a more complete statement of the Accounts.

* Of these 18 stand, being yeomanry arms, were returned, by order of Government.

The great majority of these arms have been destroyed; some few have been deposited in Ordnance Stores, and others returned to the owners, upon their afterwards producing due evidence of legal qualification.

Constabulary Office,
Dublin Castle, 24 June 1843.

D. M'Gregor, I. G.

RETURN,

(1.)—Of the NAMES of the OFFICERS of each and every YEOMANRY CORPS in Ireland, showing the Rank of each Officer, and the Date of his Commission.

(2.)—By whom and by what AUTHORITY those Commissions have been signed.

(3.)—The DATE on which each Corps was disbanded.

Note to (1.)—This Return has been made out as nearly in conformity with the order as the materials now existing in the Chief Secretary's Office would admit; it exhibits, however, a tolerably correct view of the officers of the force as existing in 1834, since which period no vacancies have been filled up; but as no perfect record of appointments has existed since the discontinuance of the Yeomanry Office, in January 1832, up to that period, and as there is no record extant of subsequent deaths, vacancies, or changes of designation, the Return must of course, in those respects, be more or less imperfect.

(1.)—RETURN of the NAMES of the OFFICERS of each and every YEOMANRY CORPS in Ireland, showing the Rank of each Officer, and the Date of his Commission.

(2.)—RETURN of by Whom, and by what AUTHORITY, those Commissions have been Signed:—

By the Lord Lieutenant, or other chief Governor of Ireland for the time being.

26 June 1843.

(3.)—RETURN of the DATE on which each CORPS was DISBANDED.

IF "Disbanding" is to be understood to mean the calling in of the arms of the corps, the required information is given under that head in the Arms Return; but if "Disbanding" is to be understood to mean the breaking up of the corps for some special cause, or the striking it off the list of corps, no information can be given as to any such corps, or such special cases if any; as there are no documents remaining, since the discontinuance of the Yeomanry-office in Dublin Castle, which give any information on the subject.

A reference having been made to the War-office in London on the subject, the following is the only information which that Department is able to afford:—

Upon searching the Records of this Office relative to the Irish Yeomanry, the following is all the information that can be given as to the reduction of the Force; viz.

COUNTY.	CORPS.
Cavan	Kingscourt	Discontinued on the Establishment, per letter from Dublin Castle, dated 14 March 1831.
Clare	Ennis
Clare	Kildysart	Discontinued per letter from Dublin Castle, dated 10 January 1832.
	Killaloe
	Ross Castle
King's	Dunkerrin
Mayo	Castlelacken

Pay of all the remaining corps discontinued from and after the 31st March 1834; per letter from Dublin Castle, dated 5 March 1834; and War-office circular, No. 762, herewith.

Whether the term "discontinued" meant anything more than depriving the respective corps of the pay allowed by Government, does not appear.

War-Office,
30 June 1843.

(Circular, No. 762.)

G. 64,395. 12.

Sir, War-Office, 24 March 1834.

I HAVE the honour to signify to you his Majesty's pleasure, that the pay of the permanent sergeants and drummers of the corps of Yeomanry in Ireland, shall cease on the 31st instant; and I have therefore to request, that the pay list of the corps under your command, for the present quarter, may be rendered immediately, in order that the pay due to the persons to be discontinued on the establishment thereof, may be issued without delay to the day above mentioned.

I am, &c.
Edward Ellice.

The Commanding Officer of the Yeomanry.

RETURN of the DATES on which any YEOMANRY CORPS in Ireland has been Called Out, Embodied, Reviewed, or Inspected, if any, for the last Ten Years; showing the Names of the Corps, and the Number of Days they were so Embodied.

NO Corps have been called out, embodied, reviewed, or inspected, by order of the Irish Government, during the last Ten Years.

Dublin Castle,
26 June 1843.

Office of Ordnance, Dublin,
24 June 1843.

As this Office possesses no record by which to furnish any information regarding the Arms possessed by the Yeomanry Corps in Ireland previous to 1830, it is impossible to afford the information called for by Mr. Lucas's Letter of the 20th ultimo; but as under the statements furnished by the Irish Government to this Department in November 1830, showing the number of arms that were then in possession of that Force, a regular charge was then established on the books of this Department against the Corps of Yeomanry. This Return is prepared to show what that Charge was, the Issues since made to, and the Receipts from that Force, and the Number of Arms which they at present stand charged with, as being in possession of.

John Butcher, Storekeeper.

RETURN showing the Number of ARMS which the YEOMANRY CORPS in Ireland possessed in 1830, as per Returns received from the Irish Government; the Numbers Issued to the Corps in 1831; the Numbers Returned into Store by the Corps in 1831, and subsequent Years; and the Numbers which the Corps retain Possession of, and with which they stand Charged on the Books of this Department.

COUNTIES and CORPS.	Number of Arms which the Corps Possessed in 1830.			Number of Arms Issued to the Corps in 1831.			Number of Arms Returned into Store by the Corps in 1831–2.			Number of Arms which now Remain in Possession of the Corps.

Memorandum.—Although the balance upon the Account appears to be as above stated, yet there is in the Three per cent. Consols 100,000*l.* stock, and in the Bank of England, to the account of the Paymaster General, 1,038 l. 18*s.* 5*d.* cash, which arises from the investments having been made in the earliest periods when the funds were very low, and from the amount sold thereout from time to time having been when the prices of stock were considerably higher; thus accounting for the difference between the balance, as stated, and the present amount of the Army Prize Fund in the Three per cent. Consols, and in money at the Bank of England.
